

My Eventful Weekend

Grade Level:	Ninth or Tenth, as an introduction
Objectives:	After this experiment the student will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Successfully access a blog • Successfully post a blog • Successfully reply to a peers blog post • Be able to correct grammatical errors The students will write creatively about an experience from their weekend. After doing so, they will edit and revise their paper. They will then upload their final draft to blogger.com.
Materials:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Pencil • Paper • Computer, with internet access • Editing guide
Procedures:	After introducing this creative writing assignment: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Each student should write a one to two page essay reflecting upon one or more events from their weekend. • After creating a rough draft, the students should edit a peer’s paper. • After each student’s paper has been editing, they should all revise their own essay. • This final draft should then be uploaded to blogger.com. • Students should then take time to customize their page so that it expresses their individuality. • After each student has finished customizing their own

	blog, they should then comment on multiple (at least 2) of their peer's blogs. <ul style="list-style-type: none">• This comment should include feedback on both the essay and the blog in its entirety.
Assessment:	Students will be evaluated upon: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Creativity level of their spot on blogger.com• Quality of post• Quality of response to others blogs• It is very important that they uploaded and replied on blogger.com successfully, no grade will be given if this was not done so.