Creative Writing on tumblr.

College Level Writing Class

| Overview | The purpose of this lesson is to get students in a creative writing class to have the opportunity for people in the world to review and critique the student’s work. This will give the students real-world criticism that they will need for a future in writing. |
| Objective | The student will be able to perform the task of first creating a profile on the tumblr. website, posting their work within their profile, and being able to review what other people have said about their work. |
| Materials | - A computer
  - A tumblr. account |
| Procedure | - The student will write a Satirical Essay and be graded by the instructor before the student can go any farther.
  - The student will than create a tumblr. account and provide a email address and create a password. They will be the only ones with access to their account, so it is important that they write down what their account information is.
  - They will then begin the process of putting their essay on their tumblr. page. They should also include directions to the people passing through that they would appreciate any criticism to help make their essay better. |
