

Title	Human experiences
Level	College
Students	Psychology Students of any level
Materials	Computer with Internet access
Purpose	To show students the different predictable reactions that people will give in different situations
Objectives	Students should be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Be able to recognize the out of the ordinary situation that people are put in throughout their life. 2. Identify the different reactions that they will produce in a given salutation and be able to predict what might happen.
Activities	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Set up a hidden camera linked to a broadcasting site where the students can watch what is going on. 2. Put someone unsuspecting in a situation in order to get a reaction out of them. 3. Have the students write down there observations in order to think about the thought process behind what was going on.